IS THERE ROOM IN THE ANGEL LAND.

[A short time since the writer listened to an interesting discourse by a Methodist preacher in which he related the following incident: A mother, who was preparing some flour to bake into bread, left it for a few moments, when little Mary—with childish curiosity to see what it was—took hold of the dish, which fell to the floor, spilling the contents. The mother struck the child a severe blow, saying—with anger—that she was always in the way! Two weeks after little Mary sickened and died. On her death bed while delirious, she asked her mother if there would be room for her among the angels. "I was always in your way, mother—you had no room for little Mary! And will I be in the angels' way?" The broken hearted mother then felt no sacrifice too great could she have saved the child.]

Is there room among the angels

For the spirit of your child?
Will they take your little Mary In their loving arms so mild?
Will they ever love me so fondly As my story book have said?
Will they find a home for Mary—Mary numbered with the dead?
Tell me truly, mother,
Ere life's closing hour doth come?
Do you think they will keep me,
In the shining angels' home?
I have sorely tried you mother—Been to you a constant care!
And you will not miss me, mother, When I dwell among the fair?
For you have no room for Mary—She was ever in your way,
And she fears the good will shun her!
Will they darling mother, say?
Tell me—tell me truly, mother,
Ere life's closing hour doth come?
Do you think they will keep me,
In the shining angels' home?
I was not so wayward, mother!
Not so very—very bad,
But what tender love would nourish,
And make Mary's heart so glad!
Oh! I yearn for affection, In this world of bitter woe!
And I long for bliss immortal, In that land where I must go!
Tell me once again, dear mother, Ere you take the parting kiss!
Will the angels bid me welcome To that world of perfect bliss?

The Republican Party.

The New York Times concludes an article on the Republican party with the following observations: "No dis-passionate man can doubt that the Republicans have, upon the whole, deserved well of the country. They have endeavored to carry out the will of the people with fidelity, and in the teeth of innumerable obstacles. The President has honestly fulfilled his pledges, and avoided all those errors into which his immediate predecessor fell, to the great disturbance of public affairs. We believe, then, that we may appeal with confidence to the people in all the approaching elections. We have yet many things before us to accomplish, but what we have achieved in the past is the best guarantee for our work in the future. With reduced taxation, and a revision of that part of our revenue system, which checks rather than encourages the prosperity of the nation, we shall be able to say that no other existing organization could or would have done half so much to promote the common good."

Masonic Lodge of Sorrow—Interesting Ceremonies.

The Supreme Council of the Thirty-third Degree of the United States, in session at Baltimore last week, held a "Lodge of Sorrow" in the Masonic Temple. The Sun of that city says of the ceremonies:

The hall was in complete mourning, the walls on each side being festooned with glazed black muslin, which, with the brilliant light from hundreds of gas jets, had a fine effect. In front of the stand was placed a cushioned table, on which was an open Bible and immediately in front of this an elaborately finished burial case, surrounded by a guard of honor, and on which lay the numerous insignia of the Order, an open Bible, and several beautiful boquets. On a temporary altar large wax candles were burning, whilst suspended in front of the organ were the escutche-ons of the deceased members. The organ is a fine instrument of twenty-five stops, twenty-six feet high by fourteen feet wide, from the manufactory of Mr. A. Pomplitz, and was presided over by Professor George Walter. The vocal music was under the immediate direction of Messrs. Joseph Burke and Henry E. Loane, both members of the order. The music was of a high character, the members of the Germania Mannschor having volunteered for the occasion. Owing to the inclement weather the Supreme Council did not assemble at the hall on the corner of Baltimore and Holiday streets, as previously arranged, but met in one of the upper rooms of the Temple and marched into the hall under escort of the members of the four Baltimore commanderies of Knights Templar, appareled in the rich and imposing uniform of the order. The seats immediately in front of the platform were occupied by the members of the Supreme Council and their escort, whilst the officers, the orators and the choir occupied the stage. The solemn and imposing ceremony for the burial of the dead was read by General Albert Pike, and the responses made by the Senior and Junior Warden and by other officers of the Lodge of Sorrow. Near the close of the solemn service the members of Council proceeded from the platform and passed around the coffin several times in procession, the organ during the time pealing forth a soft and mournful dirge. The entire service was interspersed with impressive music and anthems by the choir.

The burial service having closed, an address was delivered by the Supreme Minister of State of the Supreme Council, Giles M. Hillyer, of Mississippi. He spoke at considerable length on the beauties of Masonry and the virtues of the deceased—brothers, in whose memory the Lodge of Sorrow was held. Eulogies were then delivered of the deceased members—the late Hon. Howell Cobb and William S.
Rockwell, of Georgia—by A. C. Mitchell, of that State; on Edward Hale Gill, Edward Rutledge Ives, Willis P.
Coleman, Joseph Francois, Louis La-mare and Thomas Ross by members of the Council from their respective States. The ceremonies lasted until near midnight, although the greater part of the audience left before that time.

A LARGE CANNON.—A smart Yan- kee was one evening seated in a bar- room of a country tavern in Canada, whittling with a jack knife. There were assembled several Englishmen, discussing various matters connected with the pomp and circumstance of war. In the course of his remarks, one of them stated that the British government possessed the largest can- non in the world, and gave the dimen- sions of one he had seen. The Yankee would not let such a base assertion pass uncontradicted. "Poh! gentlemen," said he, "I won't deny that it is a fair sized cannon; but you are a little mis- taken in supposing it to be named the same minute with one of our Yankee guns which I saw in Charleston last year. Why sir, it was so large that the soldiers were obliged to employ a yoke of oxen to draw in the ball!" "And pray," exclaimed one of his hear- ers, with a smile of triumph, "can you tell us how they got the oxen out again?" "Of course I can," returned Yankee, "they unyoked 'em and drove 'em through the touch-hole!"

Adel, Iowa, has a boy seventeen years old who weighs 310 pounds, and still is growing. His name is Alexander Maggart and the Gazette wants some enterprising town to match him.

WHAT BREAKS DOWN YOUNG MEN.—The Scientific American of a recent date, has the following:

It is a commonly received notion that hard study is the unhealthy element of a college life. But from the tables of mortality of Harvard University, collected by Prof. Pierce, from the last triennial catalogue, it is clearly demonstrated that the excess of death for the first ten years after graduation, is found in that portion of each class of inferior scholarship. Every one who has seen the curriculum knows that where Aeschylus and political economy injure one, late hours and dissipation use up a dozen. Dissipation is a sure destroyer, and every young man who follows it is as the early flower exposed to untimely frost. Those who have been invigorated into the path of vice are named Legion. A few hours sleep each night, high living and plenty of "smashes," make war upon every function of the body. The brains, the heart, the lungs, the liver, the spine, the limbs, the bones, the flesh, every part and faculty are overtaken and weakened by the terrific energy of passions loosened from restraint until, like a dilapidated mansion, the "earthy house of this tabernacle" falls into ruinous decay. Fast young men, right about!

Our friend, Mistress Major Walker, M. D., is really not without a touch of Don Quixote in her nature. It is now reported that, upon a railway in the southwest, she boldly seated herself in the smoking car. Therein was one Charles Meier, of Torrebonne, La., enjoying his cigar. To him, with all her dignity of manner, said the Major:
"Sir, I wish you to throw away that cigar. I wish to learn you better manners than to smoke in the presence of a lady."

The Torrebonne gentleman, contin-ing, the Major proceeded to military measures, invaded him (so to speak) and snatching the cigar from his mouth threw it from the car. Just then a Texan lighted his pipe. Mrs. Major emboldened by the success of her first maneuver, moved upon the Texan; but the Texan, taking warning from the of the Torrebonne gentleman's cigar, placed himself in position, with his pipe well covered, and cried out that, as this was a smoking-car, he should throw himself upon his vested rights, and puff at pleasure. This bold front was not without its effect. Mrs. Major retreated in good order, and in some confusion left the smoking-car altogether. If we hear of her making a raid upon any of the tobacco shop in any part of this extensive Republic, the interesting fact shall be duly reported.

THE PEA BEETLE.—The communi- cation of Mr. A. O. Daniels, in a late number of the Farmer, in which he states, from his own experience, that the pea beetle does not infest peas planted after the 10th of June, is an important fact, which farmers would do well to remember. We have heard it stated that the English Champion pea is profitable for field culture. It is a very productive pea, and the dried peas are excellent for the table, as well as good for stock. Last winter these peas were sold in shops in Portland at ten cents per pound—about six dollars per bushel. Peas planted in June should be put deep into the ground— say six inches.—Willamette Farmer.

TO CURE WARTS ON HORSES AND MULES.—Dissolve half lb of alum in a quart of water; with a brush or cloth wet the warts twice each day for ten days—they will disappear. We saw this recipe in some of the agricultural works as a cure for warts on cows' teats.
We tried it on a young horse, whose sore was entirely covered with them.
They were very troublesome and tender, often bleeding. Four applications entirely cured or rather drove them off.

Not for Joseph might have been the remark of Joseph Dixon, who was the favored sutor for the hand of a young lady in Bash county, Indiana. He had in Edwin Colburn a rival who tried the effect of strategy. As Joseph was returning to his home from a visit to the lady, last Sunday night, a ghost appeared to him and solemnly warned him not to visit the lady again. The youth was badly frightened, but had nerve enough to draw a pistol and fire it with such effect as to bring Edwin, the ghost, down with a fractured knee.

If any of his Democratic friends want to know where he is, we can tell them that Jeff Davis is living at Memphis, and insuring people's lives at a pay of $8,000 a year.

Telegraphic Summary.

CHICAGO, June 4.—Cox's amendment, reducing the income tax to 3 per cent, was adopted by 114 to 77.
Hale's amendment, making an exemption of 2,000, was adopted by 138 to 52.

Judd's amendment, to confine the tax to invested capital, and Potter's amendment that income tax cease after 1870, were rejected.

Fenkleburg's amendment adopted, limiting allowance for house rent to $500. Several minor amendments were adopted.

McCarthy's amendment, to strike out all of the section in relation to income, was rejected.

NEW YORK, June 3.—The Herald publishes the forthcoming report of the House Foreign Affairs Committee on Cuba. The report is very long, and petitions are in circulation in behalf of Cuba, signed by 55,000 people of the United States.

The same dispatch states that Spain seeks to reinforce her naval and war supplies from the United States, while the Cubans appeal to our people for sympathy, therefore the Cuban question becomes an American question.

pints, champagne and other sparkling wines $6 per dozen, quarts, and $3 per dozen pints, brandy and other spirits not otherwise provided for $2, bitters, etc. $2 per gallon, unbleached cottons 5c per square yard, bleached 5c with 10 per cent. ad valorem, colored 5c with 20 per cent. ad valorem, hemp—unman-ufactured—$40 per ton, flax not hack-led $20—hackled $40 per ton. Iron —pig $7, scrap $6. Steel—railway flax seed 20 cts per bushel of 56 lbs.

Everybody should live on the sunny side of their houses as much as possible, and allow the sun's genial rays to penetrate the rooms. Darkened parlors are fashionable evils. True, it is gloomy enough to be ushered into the tomb like apartment, where one can scarcely grope his way to a seat, and to discover, when he is accustomed to the dim light, that every chair and sofa has on its lined "duster" apparently equipped for traveling to some unknown land. But ladies must have their checkers kept bright and fresh, even if their shutters are tightly closed and the curtains drawn. But for the sake of health and beauty, ladies, let this be done only in the best parlor, if it must be done at all. Let the rooms where family live be cheerful and sunny.
No lady would expect her house plants to send forth full, brilliant blossoms, unless she placed them at the window where the sunbeams would invigorate them. No more should she expect her children to show fresh, rosy complexions or developed genial dispositions, unless they live in light, sunny, airy rooms.

Let not the farmer, of all men, despise education—professional agricultural education, particularly—but get all the knowledge he can from books as well as from experience, and see to it that his sons shall have, so far as possible, the advantages which he himself may have lacked, in qualifying themselves for the most honorable of all callings—the cultivation of the soil.

The meanest man in Iowa when last heard from was in Decatur county, where he stole the hinges from the gate to the cemetery of the town of Garden Grove. Stealing the hinges off of the gateway to the grave is somewhat bold-der, and a little meaner than stealing coppers off a dead nigger's eyes; but after all we can console ourselves with the certain fact that the grave will have a victory over this individual which the deceased person of color will never have over the rascal that robbed him.

Twenty-one Democrats in the Ohio Legislature voted against the resolution of respect to the memory of General George H. Thomas. By this sign of hate for a Union soldier shall you know them.
